ACER public consultation: Guideline on REMIT transaction reporting

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

Background

Regulation (EU) No 1227/2011 on wholesale energy market integrity and transparency ("REMIT") establishes a framework to ensure the integrity and transparency of wholesale energy markets across the Union.

In 2024, REMIT was revised, introducing new and updated data reporting requirements. These changes were further specified in Regulation (EU) No 2026/256 on data reporting (recast REMIT Implementing Regulation), which sets out detailed rules on data reporting obligations, market participant registration, inside information disclosure, and monitoring procedures to ensure consistent enforcement of REMIT across EU wholesale energy markets.

Scope of the Guideline on transaction reporting

The revised REMIT introduced a new possibility for ACER to develop guidelines and recommendations to national regulatory authorities or market participants (Article 16b REMIT).

ACER has developed the Guideline on REMIT Transaction Reporting to facilitate the understanding of the data reporting rules and requirements under REMIT and the REMIT Implementing Regulation. The purpose of the Guideline on REMIT Transaction Reporting is to separate the technical guidance on how to report data to ACER, addressed in ACER's Transaction Reporting User Manual (TRUM), from the more policy-oriented aspects of data reporting, now consolidated into the Guideline on REMIT Transaction Reporting.

You can download the draft Guideline on REMIT transaction reporting here:

Objective of the consultation

According to the revised REMIT, ACER shall conduct public consultations regarding the guidelines which it issues.

The objective of this consultation is to gather valuable feedback, needs and views from the public to refine the structure and content of the proposed guideline.

The survey is structured in dedicated sections following the chapters of the proposed guideline. Respondents are invited to submit their feedback on each section via the open questions below and/or by uploading documents with revision proposals in the dedicated section at the end of the survey.

Contact and deadline

The contact point for this consultation is: REMIT.Consultations@acer.europa.eu

All respondents are invited to submit their comments by 12 June 2026, 17:00 (CET)

Data protection, confidentiality and publication of results

Data protection

ACER will process personal data of the respondents in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2018/1725, taking into account that this processing is necessary for performing ACER's consultation tasks.

More information on data protection is available in ACER's data protection notice and on ACER's website.

ACER will not publish personal data.

* I have read and understood the Data Protection Notice on External Webinars / Online Events and Data Protection Notice on Interactions with Stakeholders.

I confirm

Confidentiality and publication

Following this consultation, ACER will make public:

- the number of responses received
- company names, unless they should be considered as confidential
- all non-confidential responses
- ACER's evaluation of responses. In the evaluation, ACER may link responses to specific respondents or group of respondents.

You may request that the name of your company or any information provided in your response is treated as confidential. To this aim, you need to explicitly indicate below whether your response contains confidential information.

* Do you consent to the publication of the name of the organisation?

- ○ Yes
- ◉ No

* Do you consent to the publication of the provided answers?

Please, note that your answer, without your name and organization, may be shared with the EU institutions and national authorities.

- ◉ Yes
- ○ No

* Does your submission contain confidential information?

Please note that submissions containing confidential information will not be published.

Section I: Introduction and scope

This section covers the following topics:

- Legal framework
- Scope and purpose of the Guideline on REMIT transaction reporting
- Target audience
- Transaction reporting and market monitoring
- ACER contacts

Do you have any comments on the guidance provided in this chapter?

Section II: Reporting obligations

II.1 What to report?

This section covers the following topics:

- Transactions to be reported on a continuous basis
- Transactions to be reported on a periodic basis
- Transactions to be reported at the request of ACER
- Reporting requirements regarding transactions executed via a trade-matching system
- Definition of standard and non-standard contracts
- Distinction between product, contract and transaction for standard contracts
- Lifecycle events
- Back-loading requirement

Do you have any comments on the guidance provided in this chapter?

II.2 Who shall report?

This section covers the following topics:

- Reporting parties
- Who shall report transactions concluded on an organised marketplace
- Who shall report transactions concluded outside an organised marketplace
- Who shall report transportation transactions
- Who shall report storage transactions
- Who shall report lifecycle events
- Wholesale energy products already reported in accordance with MiFIR or EMIR

Do you have any comments on the guidance provided in this chapter?

With regard to point 2.2.2 (179), the potential requirement to include an Algo ID with each order appears disproportionate and lacks a clear basis in the underlying REMIT framework.

The revised REMIT regime already requires market participants engaging in algorithmic trading to notify ACER and their national regulatory authority of that activity. In addition, ACER and organized marketplaces receive detailed order-level data, including participant identifiers and complete audit trails, enabling the reconstruction of trading behavior and the identification of the responsible market participant. Where necessary, regulators can request information on the algorithms used by a participant as part of supervisory or investigative activities. The incremental supervisory value of attaching an Algo ID to every individual order therefore remains unclear.

Furthermore, the concept of an individual algorithm is difficult to define consistently in wholesale energy markets. Trading decisions often result from a combination of forecasting models, optimization engines, risk controls and human intervention. Requiring market participants to assign and maintain Algo IDs for continuously evolving systems would create significant implementation and governance burdens while risking inconsistent interpretation across market participants.

Importantly, neither Article 5a REMIT nor the recast REMIT Implementing Regulation appears to require the identification of a specific algorithm for each individual order. Point 179 therefore introduces a de facto new reporting obligation that goes beyond the notification of algorithmic trading activity foreseen in the legislation. ACER should clarify the legal basis, necessity and expected supervisory benefits of this requirement.

Given the limited additional transparency achieved, the considerable operational complexity introduced, and the absence of a clear legislative mandate, the proposed requirement does not appear to satisfy the principle of proportionality.

Section III: Start of reporting and reporting frequency

This section covers the following topics:

- Start of reporting
- Frequency of reporting
